
The fine-tuned model was developed against a separately generated corpus version, so the shared-split comparison is controlled for four of the five models; its clean held-out figure is reported throughout (Section 3.5.3).